THE CLUB

The idea of this organization first came forth through the pages of the old United Pigeon Fanciers Bulletin. Enthusiastic response came from this article concerning the plight of the rare breeds, convincing one man (Paul Steiden - Founder of the RBPC) that this was needed and wanted. In May 1971 Paul Steiden issued the first bulletin. Our first charter member was Bob Scadd of Evansville, IN. We have been an organization since 1971.

On Dec. 31, 1971, 106 charter members were installed. The RBPC is an organization that promotes and encourages the keeping of many wonderful breeds of pigeons that for one reason or another are vanishing from our lofts. Rare Breeds do not rank high with the whole group of pigeon lovers, but have caught the whim of a few fanciers, and have charmed their way into a permanent place in many lofts. These fanciers continue to be dedicated supporters of their favorite but little-known breeds. Rare breed fanciers have had little or no competition in many shows, but faithful ones still enter their rare ones. We encourage fanciers to keep a few pairs of rare breeds in their loft along with the more popular breeds. We hope, through the RBPC to band together those fanciers for their common good, to promote their favorite breeds of pigeons, and to prevent them from passing from existence, like the Passenger Pigeon, which is our club logo.

The rules contained in "Robert's Rules of Order, Revised", shall govern the club in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the By-Laws of the club.

ARTICLE IV - CRITERIA FOR LISTING AS A RARE BREED

All breeds not currently sponsored by an active and well-established specialty club not devoted to a single breed or a strictly related group of breeds shall be listed. Exceptions are those breeds whose sponsoring specialty clubs have disbanded for reasons other than the evident and acknowledged scarcity or unpopularity of the breeds in question and those breeds whose sponsoring clubs are inactive or otherwise poorly organized while the breeds themselves remain popular and quite common. With regard to the exceptions stated herein, a survey of the breeders and the numbers of the breeds in question shall be alternate criterion for the listing or deletion of the breeds. Breeds of dubious scarcity shall be determined eligible for listing through mutual agreement between the specialty club and group of breeders in question and the RBPC. Said breeds may be entered at meets upon eligibility for listing. No breeds of merely local or regional scarcity shall be listed.

ARTICLE V -REMOVAL OF BREEDS FROM THE RBPC LIST

Removal of a breed from the RBPC list means that the RBPC will no longer provide any support for the breed in the show hall. Because of this, we recommend that the members of the new club be made aware of the three options for affiliated clubs and of the consequences of removal. Let the voices of those who may not have the opportunity to show with the new club be heard. After the needs of all those who raise and show the breed are considered, the RBPC expects to be informed in writing if the members have decided to continue co-sponsoring the breed with the RBPC or if the members feel that removal is a realistic option. The RBPC will respect the consensus reached by the breeders and act accordingly.

Article VI - AFFILIATED CLUBS

The RBPC provides a support system for the sponsorship of rare breeds. The RBPC expects that new clubs will form to sponsor breeds already sponsored by the RBPC. This is viewed as progress. The RBPC asks such new clubs to inform the RBPC and the NPA of their existence. At that time we recommend that all RBPC members who raise that breed join the new club. We ask the new club to affiliate with the NPA. This is important since new clubs can only apply for sponsorship of a breed at the Grand National after they have been affiliated with the NPA for two years. Prior to the new club meeting this NPA requirement, the RBPC will co-sponsor the breed with the new club at the NPA National.

During this two year period the new club has three options for managing the bred at shows: (1) it can hold its own meets, under their own rules where it has enough members to do so. (2) It can hold joint meets with the RBPC where support is needed from the RBPC.

(3) It can depend on the RBPC to hold meets for the breed where the new club does not have sufficient numbers to put on its own meet. At the end of the NPA's two year period, the RBPC expects that the new club will know whether they still need to co-sponsor the breed with the RBPC or will seek to discontinue the relationship.

ARTICLE VII - THE RARE BREEDS LIST

RBPC Official Rare Breeds list and index shall be revised yearly by committee consisting of RBPC members who have wide knowledge of breeds and varieties and access to all available pertaining to precise information of the breeds and varieties in question to the survey and census. The census of (1) specialty clubs, (2) individual breeders, (3) actual numbers of rare breeds, may be obtained, shall provide the necessary criteria for determination of eligibility for listing.

ARTICLE VIII- THE ETHICS COMMITTEE

Members in good standing may submit complaints to the Rare Breeds Officers regarding inappropriate behaviors of others. The President will form an Ethics Committee of three members not related to the complaint or to the member in good standing. The Ethics Committee members will review the complaint, determine guilt or not of the accused, and make suggestions to the club officers a corrective course of action. The Ethics Committee members will be anonymous as will be their recommendations to the Board. The club officers will determine the level of corrective action needed and the President will discuss the complaint and corrective actions with the accused.

MASTER BREEDER POINTS PROGRAM

Purpose: A way to honor the skill and perseverance of RBPC members who are striving to maintain the many Rare Breeds of show pigeons. This is demonstrated by the quality of performance in show competition and therefore these fanciers may acquire due recognition through the honor of the Master Breeder Program. This program is open to all members who earn 500 and/or 1000 points needed to qualify according to the category of recognition.

1. To achieve the honor of Master Breeder, a RBPC member must sustain membership in RBPC for a minimum of 3 years.
2. RBPC master breeder points will be awarded at all sanctioned RBPC meets.
3. The RBPC will hold State, District and National Meets. Each District will be awarded one meet per show season. The RBPC will also sponsor two National meets per show season, one being the National Young Bird Show in Louisville, Kentucky and the second being the NPA Grand National. The two national meets along with Des Moines and Lancaster PA will be worth more points than District and State meets.
4. It is the Meet Coordinator's responsibility to forward all show reports to the RBPC Secretary, so club members will receive their due points.
5. To be a sanctioned a RBPC meet, there must have a minimum of twenty (20) birds entered and three (3) exhibitors for points to be awarded.
6. If a nonmember wins points at a RBPC meet, the points can only be awarded if they become a RBPC member the day of the show.
7. Only birds receiving a H.S. rating or higher will be awarded points. At a show with no H.S. birds exhibited, no points will be given.
8. Points will only be awarded for birds bred by the exhibitor. This will be run strictly on the honor system.
9. If someone is found to be purposely cheating on points or accepting points for a bird they did not breed, band and raise then disciplinary action will be taken. The person in question's case will be reviewed by an ethics committee, selected by the president, consisting of three members in good standing and unrelated to the question at hand. A person found guilty of cheating on points could be permanently expelled from the club.
10. Split banded birds are ineligible to receive Master Breeder points.

11. Any questions or disagreements regarding the accuracy of the list should be addressed to the member in charge of the Master Breeders Program of the Secretary/treasurer. If mistakes are found, the necessary corrections will be made. Unresolved questions will be directed to the club President for a final decision.
12. Points will be recorded by the member in charge of the Master Breeder Program and will be based on show reports submitted him/her at the end of each show season. Point totals will be published once a year in the club bulletin.
13. A member may receive Master Breeder recognition in more than one breed. Each breed will be counted separately until the required point total is reached.
14. Point accumulation will start retroactive to the start of our original Points Program.
15. All points must be claimed within one year after the date of the meet. With this in mind, it is important for Meet Coordinators to submit complete and accurate show reports to the RBPC Secretary as soon as possible after a show. Failure to do so could cost someone valuable points.
16. Master Breeder awards will be awarded in two categories:
  - A. Master Breeder for a single breed. A member must collect 500 points for a single breed.
  - B. All Breeds Master Breeder. A member must collect a total of 1,000 points for an All Breeds Master Breeder Award.
17. The 500 points collected and counted towards Master Breeder for a single breed will count towards the 1000 All Breeds Master Breeder award.
18. Master Breeder awards will be presented at the annual RBPC meeting at the National Young Bird Show.
